Shiftgig Celebrates Milestone of 250,000 Shifts Worked

Chicago, IL – October 26, 2016 – Shiftgig, the smartest and easiest way for the hourly workforce and businesses to connect, reached a milestone today as Shiftgig Specialist Pavida Chaweevong worked the company's 250,000th shift. This was Chaweevong's 119th shift, and she worked as a runner at Citi Field in New York.

Shiftgig, which launched its platform for on-demand work in Chicago in 2014, has connected 1,200 businesses with more than 10,000 vetted workers - called Specialists - across foodservice, hospitality, retail, warehouse and experiential marketing shifts. Since its launch, the company has raised $35 million to become the largest mobile marketplace for local hourly work. Earlier this month, the company relocated its corporate headquarters, one of 12 offices, to a larger space in anticipation of further growth.

"Accomplishing a major achievement like 250,000 shifts is an opportunity to reflect and celebrate, and I'm incredibly proud of our team," said Eddie Lou, co-founder and CEO. "When I look at how far we've come in such a short time, it makes me excited about reaching our goal of connecting millions of people to millions of shifts."

Shiftgig plans to continue its rapid growth, catering to the wide variety of businesses needing temporary labor and the smart mobile tools to manage them, from small operations to the biggest brands. In fact, earlier this month Shiftgig announced the acquisition of BookedOut Inc., a logistics platform connecting experiential marketing workers with experiential agencies and brands, in a move to further accelerate its growth.

About Shiftgig

Shiftgig is an on-demand, mobile marketplace working with the biggest brands in the foodservice, hospitality, retail, warehouse and experiential marketing industries, Shiftgig's pool of workers, called Specialists, are fully pre-qualified with a background check and skills assessment.
